Professional skills

I have been working in the public procurement since 1999 when I started to work at the department of supervision over public procurement in the Ministry of Constructions and Public Works SR. Since 2000, when the Office for Public Procurement has been established, I have started to work on the conception of education in the public procurement. In the upcoming years I have worked in the field of methodology and legislation of public procurement. By the end of 2006, there was established a department of electronic public procurement, consequently the department has focused on its activities to bring the system of electronic public procurement into operation and its further development. In 2008, I started to work at this department where I have been devoting to pursue the use of electronic communication in the implementation of public procurement process.
